

What percentage of attachments do you really need?

Here is a summary of the responses to the question - 'what percentage of the attachments you receive do you really need'? Here are the consolidated results from over nine hundred people with whom we have worked over the last five years.

Based on these results there is certainly plenty of scope to reduce the demand on unnecessary server and mailbox space. Patrol your use of attachments and send fewer to fewer people.

How do you rate your use of attachments as a sender? Could you improve and save everyone time? Do you need some help? If so either read Brilliant Email by Dr Monica Seeley out in November 2010 or call us on 01202 43 43 40 or email us on info@mesmo.co.uk.
